THE DOLPHIN

*Moving through the water, a skilled swimmer,
Seemingly taking pride in what he does.
Travelling by an up and down movement of the tail,
He leaps around furiously
And races with a companion,
Chasing after fish,
Hungry for adventure.*

*They join the school like excited children,
Frolics about happily without a care in the world.
Suddenly danger looms,
An enemy is near.
They move to another part of the water,
Where they play together,
Safe and content.*
